

THE LONG BLUE LINE

Building a National Museum to Honor, Engage, Educate and Inspire Generations

The Long Blue Line is a colorful quarterly publication of the Director of Military Personnel produced in alignment with the Coast Guard Retiree Services Program and the National Coast Guard Museum Association. The Long Blue Line enjoys a readership of well over 250,000 retirees of the USCG, the Retired National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration and the Public Health Service. Due to the success of this publication, the Coast Guard has decided to include sections for both Active Duty and Reserve workforces in the Long Blue Line. The Coast Guard will also expand the electronic distribution of this magazine to more than 80,000 new recipients including all Active Duty and Reserve members. The Long Blue Line will be read by our newest recruits and our most senior retirees. The Long Blue Line's mission is to provide news and support for retirees, relevant information about Coast Guard history and the future National Coast Guard Museum, and to strengthen Coast Guard retiree communications and information services. The Long Blue Line is helping to sustain the life-long connection and mutually beneficial relationship between the Coast Guard and its military retiree community! The retiree and annuitant communities are diverse ones. Many Coast Guard retirees are actively pursuing post-military careers and continuing to raise families. Some of us are lucky enough to be at the stage of pursuing personal passions that had been on hold throughout both Coast Guard and second careers. Others have chosen "permanent moorings" and are simply enjoying closeness with family and friends while working to remain as healthy as possible throughout our ever-increasing golden years. The National Coast Guard Museum Association is committed to building a world-class Museum that will not only honor the heritage of the U.S. Coast Guard, but also provide to the public a gateway to discover Coast Guard life. Interactive exhibits, programs, public and private partnerships, and Science, Technology, Engineering and Math (STEM)-based educational programs and leadership training opportunities are expected to be a formidable part of the Museum experience. Your advertisement in The Long Blue Line not only guarantees your message will be seen by over a quarter million readers each quarter - and will enjoy extensive distribution throughout the USCG and the Department of Homeland Security. Available both as a colorful glossy magazine and digitally on the WWW - this is a way to reach countless retirees and business professionals. Your company's support honors the heroic men and women and stellar history of the Service and contributes directly to museum's construction. Place your company's advertisement today by contacting the Senior Program Coordinator, Mr. Michael Massicott at 800 891-2828 Ext. 1162 or mike@pentagon-usa.us

ADVERTISING POLICY

The publisher (National Coast Guard Museum Association) reserves the right to reject and/or cancel any advertisement. The publisher also reserves the right to insert suitable ad copy when none is received by the published deadline. Advertisements for alcohol, tobacco, firearms and political groups are not accepted. The advertiser and their advertising agency assume full liability for content of advertisements printed and assume full responsibility for any claims made against the publisher.

Advertising contracts, insertion orders or written notice authorizing an advertisement to run, must accompany or precede the arrival of the advertising material. Guaranteed positions are contracted for inside the front page (Cover 2) and inside back page (Cover 3) only. However, requested placement will be attempted based on space availability and the discretion of the publisher. Only ads that meet our design specifications will be accepted.

PAYMENT

The advertiser and advertising agency are jointly and separately responsible for payment. Pre-payment is required. Ads will be pulled at the discretion of the Publisher for non-payment.
